Wednesday 7 February, at 7.30pm:

"In the Wake of Scotia, The Scottish National Antarctic Expedition, 1902-1904" with Doug Allan, wildlife cinematographer.

The SNAE expedition was organised and led by William Speirs Bruce, a natural scientist and former medical student from Edinburgh University. Although overshadowed in terms of prestige by Robert Falcon Scott's concurrent Discovery Expedition, the SNAE completed a full programme of exploration and scientific work.

Its achievements included the establishment of a staffed meteorological station, the first in Antarctic territory, and the discovery of new land to the east of the Weddell Sea. Its collection of biological and geological specimens led to the establishment, in 1906, of the Scottish Oceanographical Laboratory in Edinburgh.

Sir David Attenborough said of the Speaker - "Wildlife cameramen don't come much more special than Doug".

A huge amount of Doug's early experience was as a diver with the British Antarctic Survey - for his work he was awarded the Fuchs Medal, then the Polar Medal. Since then he has contributed to The Blue Planet, Planet Earth, Human Planet, Frozen Planet, Life and many other high profile programmes.

Wednesday 13 March, 7.30pm:

"Sir Andrew Carnegie - from weaver's cottage to mega-riches" with Mark Macleod, Manager, Andrew Carnegie Birthplace Museum.

Philanthropist, steel tycoon, writer, lecturer, entrepreneur - Andrew Carnegie led the expansion of the American steel industry in the late 19th century.

He was born in a weaver's cottage in Dunfermline on 25 November 1835 and died as one of the richest Americans on 11th August, 1919 having given away 90% of his personal wealth $5.92bn in 2022 dollars. He once declared "the man who dies rich, dies disgraced".

Wednesday 17 April, 7.30pm

"The Highland and Belted Galloway Cattle residing at Wandlebury" with Ed Wombwell.

Wednesday 15 May, 7.30pm:

Philip Long, CEO of the National Trust for Scotland, will join the group in celebration of their 20th anniversary and speak of his plans and vision for the charity as we approach the second quarter of the 21st century and the Trust's centenary in 2031.

EAST LOTHIAN MEMBERS' CENTRE (SC 026085)

Margaret Russell, Membership Secretary
01875 853 370
magr8@outlook.com
ntscentres.org.uk/eastlothian.html

For more information about the programme of visits listed below, please contact Margaret Russell.

Thursday 9 May

Visit to Rosslyn Chapel, Midlothian.

Founded in 1446, as the Collegiate Church of St Matthew, attracts visitors from far and wide, drawn by its unique and mysterious carvings and the beauty of its setting. The chapel took some 40 years to build and its ornate stonework and mysterious symbolism have inspired, and intrigued, artists and visitors ever since. Today, there are countless theories, myths and legends associated with the Chapel, many of which are impossible to prove or disprove conclusively.

Tuesday 18 June

Visit to Falkland Palace & Garden, Fife.

Falkland Palace is one of Scotland's finest Renaissance palaces. James IV and his son, James V, commissioned the best stonemasons and craftsmen of the day to create a pleasure ground for their country pursuits.

The palace was saved from ruin in the 19th century by the 3rd Marquess of Bute. Innovative and passionate, Bute gave the palace a new lease of life, and the fruits of his labour are still enjoyed by his great-grandson Ninian, who lives on site today.

Monday 22 July

Visit to Mellerstain House & Garden, Gordon.

Mellerstain is the residence of the Earl and Countess of Haddington and is one of Scotland's grandest Georgian houses. It was designed and built by William and Robert Adam, who also built Floors Castle.

Enjoy a guided tour where the interior decoration is opulent in a way that only the Georgians knew how to do. The rooms retain their period colour schemes, with ornate ceilings, marble busts, lots of original furniture and a large collection of paintings.

Thursday 15 August

Visit to Maid of the Forth.

Join for a spectacular 90 minute sightseeing cruise, where you will cruise under all three Forth Bridges and down towards Inchcolm Island. Spot the abundance of seals, puffins, and other seabirds and wildlife while enjoying the breathtaking views as you cruise under the Forth Bridges. If you are lucky you may also manage to spot some passing Dolphins, Porpoises or even Minke Whales which have been spotted near Inchcolm.

Wednesday 18 September

Visit to New Lanark World Heritage Site, South Lanarkshire.

This is a unique 18th century Mill Village sitting alongside the picturesque River Clyde, less than one hour from Glasgow and Edinburgh.

Founded in 1785 with a focus on philanthropy, education and the welfare of the mill workers, New Lanark became a model for industrial communities that was to spread across the world in the 19th and 20th centuries. New Lanark was inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2001.

Thursday 22 February, 11.00am

Talk, "Silk, satin, cotton and wool: Haddo's hoard of household textiles" with Regional Curator, Emma Inglis in Haddo House Library.

We don't often get the chance to get "up close and personal" with most of the items in the fabulous collections at our local properties. This talk will take a closer look at some of the amazing textiles at Haddo House, some of which are displayed for all to see but many that are not.

Emma Inglis will share some of their lesser-known histories, as well as giving an insight into the challenges of researching and displaying these fabulous yet fragile links with the past.

Friday 22 March, 11.00am

Talk, "The work of the Commonwealth War Graves Commission" with Elaine Edwards, CWGC Public Engagement Co-Ordinator (Scotland N&E) in Haddo House Library.

The Commonwealth War Graves Commission's mission is to ensure those who died in service, or as a result of conflict, are commemorated so that they, and the human cost of war, are remembered for ever.

They care for 23,000 war memorials and war cemeteries around the world commemorating 1.7 million Commonwealth casualties. This work covers the distinctive headstones, the buildings and monuments associated with them and the detailed horticultural work to the grounds they stand in. Elaine Edwards will tell us more about their work and their archives.
